

Pau Wau Publications is please to present Muses Volume 1, a set of fold-out artist-made booklets enclosed in a hand stamped envelope in an edition of 150. The books debut new work by five emerging contemporary photographers exploring the idea of muses.

Andreas Laszlo Konrath

Frank features an extravagantly tattooed subject who often recurs in Konrath's work and was shot in one session.

Brian Paul Lamotte

Courtney, as actress, explores exotic locales as set design to frame moments of fantasy.

iO Tillett Wright

Avu-Chan depicts a brief exchange between photographer and club kid capturing varying layers of intimacy and pretense.

Thomas Giddings

Angharad is a meditation on the beauty of seemingly random holiday snapshots.

Todd Jordan

Katherine is an intimate study that is both invasive and ambiguous.

Presenting eight images, each booklet is constructed by hand and unfolds into a larger-sized poster. Future volumes will further explore concepts and abstractions that define what a muse may be in the contemporary landscape of photography.
